

January Newsletter

Dear Parents,

Happy New Year to all! I hope all is going well with you and your family. I want to thank you for working with your child on their state emblem reports. The students did a wonderful job and they were very excited to share their emblems with their classmates. Just a reminder that the cereal box book reports are due next Tuesday, January 31st.

In math we have just finished up our unit on 2-digit addition and subtraction. We will begin learning about graphs this week. If your child is still struggling with their addition math facts, please continue using the triangular math facts as often as possible.

This week in Literacy by Design, we are reading stories about magnets. If your child has any magnets at home he or she may bring them in on Wednesday as we will be exploring objects that are magnetic.

In science we will begin learning about Energy and its forms. After that we will begin our social studies unit on Native Americans. We will be learning about several different Indian Tribes and will be preparing for our annual Native American Pow Wow! If you have any empty coffee cans with lids please have your child bring them into school for a class project.

I think that is it for now...As always please contact me via email, note or phone call with any questions or concerns!

Sincerely, Kelly Quinty
