

Roxbury Welcome's Dr. Santora

Dr. Frank Santora currently serves as the Assistant Superintendent for Pupil Personnel Services in the Madison School District. During his tenure in Madison, Dr. Santora has focused his efforts on expanding and maximizing learning opportunities for all students. This included the substantial expansion and enhancement of the district's special education services. As a result of his unwavering commitment to students, Dr. Santora has successfully created numerous special class programs that enable students with complex learning needs to receive comprehensive services within their home school district. He has also worked to bolster Madison Public Schools's Multi-Tiered System of Support in order to ensure that both general and special education students receive individualized instruction that is tailored to their unique needs and abilities.

Dr. Santora has worked diligently to enhance the emotional health and well-being of students. Under his leadership, the district significantly increased both the frequency and intensity of the mental health services and support offered to students. Dr. Santora also created increased opportunities to engage and inform the broader Madison Public Schools' community on the importance of meeting the social-emotional needs of students both in and outside of the learning environment.

Prior to arriving in Madison, Dr. Santora served as the Director of Special Services and Building Principal in the Saddle Brook School District. At the onset of his career, Dr. Santora served as a School Psychologist and member of the Child Study Team in the Westfield Public School District.

In 2014, Dr. Santora earned his doctoral degree in Educational Leadership from Saint Elizabeth University. Dr. Santora's research focused on examining the impact district-run training programs have on the daily practice and procedures of parents and staff affiliated with in-district Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) programs.

Dr. Santora resides in Mendham with his wife, Jaclyn, and their three children. In their spare time, the Santora family enjoys traveling, exploring numerous outdoor destinations as well as frequent visits to Long Beach Island, New Jersey.
